Maintenance Free PVC Fence

One main advantage over wood and iron fencing is that the vinyl fence is nonporous and will not rot, rust, warp, or splinter. It also does not require painting or staining. On average, vinyl fence components will last years longer and maintain their curb appeal with little to no maintenance compared to wood or wrought iron fences.

To maintain the longevity of your PVC fence, simply hose it down with water and mild soap a few times a year to remove stains and debris
